

For UNIX

AventX is a cost-effective, host-based software solution designed to streamline and manage email and fax document delivery processes. With STR Software's ERP connectors, users can send information directly from various host applications. An unattended and scalable solution, AventX's advanced integration allows companies to realize greater value from their existing and future IT hardware investments through document automation.

Advanced Functionality

No Modification to Source Code

AventX UNIX and AventX WINDOWS interpret the output document and extract relevant delivery information from the document itself, or perform a lookup into a database or other external structure.

Multiple Application Interfaces

Simplifies automated emailing and faxing from various business applications using several ERP Connectors.

Intelligent Restart

If document transmission is interrupted, restart will occur at the point of initial failure with a retry cover page, securing that only one copy of the document

Dynamic Grouping

Provides the ability to group send any document (text or formatted) and avoid dialing redundancy

Intelligent Workflow Logic

Interprets your output data with no modifications to source code. Locates each document within your print file, identifies the recipient, and defines the method of delivery to be email, fax, or print.

Multiple Document Formats

Supports document formats of PCL, PostScript, HTML, MS Office, TIFF, PDF, ASCII text, and more.

Complete Reporting

Generate reports at specific intervals or at any point using the automatic or on-demand configurable reporting capabilities.

Critical Benefits

- ROI measurable in months
- Streamline daily operations
- Enhance productivity
- Employee time savings
- Achieve paperless initiatives
- Reduction of operating costs
- Compliance with regulatory and security requirements
- Verification of documents' receipt
- No customizations required
- Scalability
- Ninety-day money-back guarantee

Any document. Any format. Any volume.

11505 Allecingie Parkway · Richmond, VA 23235
800-897-7097 office · 804-897-1638 fax
www.strsoftware.com

